It's just easy and fun. If you're not familiar with Youtube's tutorials, here's what you need to know: You start by adding the "Your Channel" to your channel. Then you go to your channel and click on "+" then choose "youtube." Click on add video, choose a youtube video. You can choose audio from the drop down menu, if you want. Once you have your video on your channel, you want to upload it to Coub. Coub is where you'll store all your loops for the future, if you're not already storing them elsewhere. To upload to Coub, click on "upload" under the video, and then scroll down to the bottom of the page and click "Start Upload." After your video is uploaded, you want to search your video. You want to search by title, not by the youtube channel (if you upload from the same account). There are two different ways you can do this. First, type "Title" in the search box. Then you can start typing to find your video. If you aren't sure what to search for, here's a sample search. "Encore Piano" will take you to the "Piano." "Marching Bands" will take you to the "Marching Band." "Christmas carols" will take you to the "Christmas Carols." The second way to search, after typing "Title," you can scroll to the bottom of the page and click on "Searching" and then choose "YouTube" or "other" and click on the drop down arrow to find videos. Once you find your video, click on it, and then click on "edit" next to the title. You'll see the little carousel. Click on the one at the bottom of the page to play the video.
